BULLETIN OF INFORMATION FOR POST DOCTORAL COURSES

Post doctoral fellowship Course

The Post-Doctoral Certificate Course (PDCC) is a short-term, advanced training program designed to provide focused clinical exposure and skill enhancement in a specific subspecialty area. It is a 1 year course intended for qualified postgraduate doctors seeking hands-on experience in niche or emerging fields. Structured in alignment with institutional policies the program emphasizes practical training, case-based learning, and supervised procedures rather than extensive research. The PDCC aims to equip clinicians with specialized competencies to improve patient care and support evolving healthcare needs.
